

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The Catalyzing Change Task Force sought and received significant and substantial comments on successive drafts of the manuscript. This process included the sharing of a public review draft with all members of the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics and the broader community through outreach that included notifications through social media. The Task Force is also especially indebted to a small set of major reviewers who provided feedback and offered critiques of multiple rounds of rewrites and edits. These reviewers included teachers, school leaders, mathematicians, researchers, curriculum developers, policy makers, and mathematics educators. The NCTM Board of Directors and the Catalyzing Change Task Force are grateful to all who reviewed and shared their expertise and also extend thanks for the timely, thorough, and thoughtful editorial work of Anita Draper in moving Catalyzing Change forward.

Catalyzing Change was significantly influenced by the views and perspectives shared through the review process. NCTM expresses sincere thanks to all reviewers who offered thoughtful responses. While their contributions do not constitute an endorsement of the final version, the perspectives and insights that they provided have contributed to a better publication.
